[REDACTED],

The speed is "long play" meaning 4-hours verses 2-hours (NOT 6-hrs).

This is a bit faster... better.

As mentioned, the audio transfer is complete. Would you like those files tomorrow, as separate from the video transfers? Or all at once (both audio/video) next week?

As a follow up to the video lengths, most of the VHS tapes were recorded at slow speed or "extended play". This means the length of each tape is 6-hrs (verses 2-hours at normal speed).

We spoke about preserving the entire tape. Just letting you know in advance. Of course, the estimate will reflect these extended times.

Good morning [REDACTED].

Yes, I can definitely help.

What is the time frame for this?

In an obvious high profile case, we have VHS tapes and cassettes. Are you in this line of work?

[REDACTED]

The below is from the AUSA

Video and Audio:

For the video and audio records, those materials include approximately 22 VHS tapes and approximately 49 cassette tapes, each of which needs to be converted, labeled, and indexed, and we'll need two copies of each resulting digital file (again, one for us and one for FBI). Those are also currently in our possession, in my office.
