

From: "[REDACTED]" <[REDACTED]>
To: "[REDACTED]" <[REDACTED]>, "[REDACTED]" <[REDACTED]>
Subject: RE: Unsealing
Date: Sat, 01 Aug 2020 17:48:17 +0000

---

Yeah, that's what all this week's fighting with Boies has been about. The Circuit has now given them until the 20th to brief it, I think, so we can ask Boies about this in advance, but the documents have victim names redacted, for example --

[https://apps.npr.org/documents/document.html?id=7011492\[REDACTED\]Deposition-May-2016](https://apps.npr.org/documents/document.html?id=7011492[REDACTED]Deposition-May-2016)

That redacts [REDACTED] name, for example.

Though it wouldn't be new information that [REDACTED] was approached by Epstein and Maxwell and interacted with them, given [REDACTED] comments to the press previously.

-----Original Message-----

From: [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]>
Sent: Friday, July 31, 2020 22:51
To: [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]>; [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]>
Subject: Unsealing

I didn't realize Maxwell's deposition is being unsealed in the litigation before Judge Preska. Is that right? I saw an article suggesting that will be released in the batch of documents, but wasn't sure. [REDACTED] is named in it, obviously, so that raises concerns about victim confidentiality.

Sent from my iPhone