[REDACTED] – We understand you've been overseeing and handling OPR's review of the 2008 Non-prosecution Agreement between SDFL and Jeffrey Epstein. As you likely know, our Office has been conducting its own investigation of Epstein and his associates, and we recently charged one of Epstein's co-conspirators, Ghislaine Maxwell.

We are just beginning the process of producing discovery in that case, and we were hoping to touch base with you on document collection. In particular, we understand OPR gathered a significant volume of material, including internal emails and the like, regarding the prior SDFL investigation ([REDACTED], I think our team may have reached out to you directly at various points over the past year on that subject is well). We have not yet decided to what extent we have an obligation to gather or review that material in connection this case, but to facilitate our consideration of those issues, it would extremely helpful for us to have a better sense of the universe of materials that may exist and that you may have collected as part of your review.

If you have some time later today or early next week for a call, please let us know.

Thanks,
